

Aspect – our new name, a new Melbourne facility and new web site and email address.

Welcome to Aspect Update – our news that keeps you up-to-date with the world of vehicle detection, image capture, recognition and enforcement. This edition highlights significant changes at Aspect including our new company name - Aspect, our new Melbourne address and our new web site at www.aspect.com.au.

From today, Aspect Traffic will be known simply as Aspect. Our new name is complemented by a new logo that reflects our expertise in image capture and enforcement.

As well as a new name and logo, there is a new Aspect web site at www.aspect.com.au and a new email structure for all our staff. Now all our email addresses will be each person's initials followed by '@aspect.com.au'. Simple!

We have secured significant new business that cements our position as the leading supplier of vehicle image capture systems. Further details are available from our new web site or by contacting us direct at either of our Aspect addresses.

Aspect has also recently appointed more staff in project management, installation and maintenance, ensuring we are able to meet your goals.

New Melbourne Office

Aspect in Melbourne: 500m² of new offices, workshops, laboratory, training facilities, test centre and operations hub.

Aspect has made a strong commitment to the traffic industry by securing a new facility at Port Melbourne. Our new Melbourne premises will provide the operations hub for Aspect's business throughout Australia.

This new facility is purpose-built and includes a section for camera set-up, testing and in-house repairs. Services such as electrical and engineering support, project management and full on-site maintenance will now be provided with the expertise that our clients expect from a true systems integrator.

Aspect now also has two electrical installation teams, full project management capability with four staff and a support team that ensures we provide the response you expect.

As with our Sydney office, the purchase of this facility represents our investment in the Australian traffic control industry. Overall these changes reflect Aspect's long-term commitment for the future. A future that will continue to see Aspect lead the field.
